

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

AiBrush Launches Adstudio: AI-Powered Video Ad Creation for Everyone, No Brand Kit Required

New platform lets business owners, media buyers, influencers, and agencies generate complete video ads from a single prompt — cutting the cost and time of traditional ad production

Gothenburg, Sweden — August 26, 2026 — AiBrush, the AI-powered video creation platform, today announced the launch of Adstudio, a new tool that generates complete video advertisements from a single text prompt — even for users without an existing brand identity.

Video advertising has traditionally required significant budget and production time, putting professional-quality ads out of reach for many businesses and creators. Adstudio removes that barrier, drawing on AiBrush's existing video, image, music, voiceover, and sound-effect generation to produce a finished ad end-to-end, ready for multiple platforms and languages.

Key features

- Full ad generation from a single prompt — no brand identity required
- Combines AI-generated video, imagery, music, voiceover, and sound effects in one output
- Post-generation editing to fine-tune the finished ad
- Multi-platform formatting for different channels
- Multi-language support

"Adstudio puts a full creative team into a single prompt. We're giving every business owner, influencer, and agency the power to create ads that used to take a studio and a budget to produce."

— Tarek Badr, CEO and Founder, AiBrush

Adstudio is available starting August 26th at aibrush.co/en. Pricing will be announced separately.

About AiBrush

AiBrush is an AI-powered video creation platform that lets anyone produce professional-quality videos, images, music, voiceovers, and sound effects from a single browser-based studio. AiBrush AB is a Swedish company, part of the Brewhouse Inkubator program in Gothenburg, and built on Google Cloud Platform. Its mission is to democratize professional video production and put broadcast-quality creative tools in the hands of every creator, team, and business.

Media Contact

Tarek Abdellatef
Tarek@aibrush.co
+46 76 852 9558